Orcs Find Bunny
Adorable -
Shadowlord Slays it, Grishnak Infuriated
*****

by Doctor "Doc."
Frank.
Today the Shadowclan
orcs had an
unexpected surprise
when a small bunny
lept into their
fortress, and boy was
it cute! The orcs
stayed with
it for hours, taming it
and feeding it carrots, some of which were
pre chewed by some of the younger orcs in
a startling display of affection.
"Ju so cute, fwoppy
eaw!" One orc explained. Then, the Shadowlords appeared,
and one yelled "Por Corp Wis" at the small rabbit, which
promptly died. "We gun bash ju! We gun bash ju gud! Fur du bludgud! Ju get bashed!!" Grishnak
said in tears...

"Por Corp Wis" Now
Most Common Words
in Britannian

Language

*****

by O. Mandelstam

According to a recent survey, the three most commonly spoken words in the land are now "Por" "Corp" and "Wis," usually spoken in that order. They replace the previous three most common words, which were "Lewt" "Biotch" and "OoOOoOoo."

Observers believe that the recent faction battles are contributing to the surge in popularity of the "Por Corp Wis" phenomenon. I recently conducted a brief interview with a member of the Shadowlords who had been seen using this phrase at the rate of five times a minute:

BMO: Greetings, sir! I notice you seem quite fond of the phrase "Por Corp Wis." Can you explain this to me?

SL: Dude, it's like, you can't resist it at all. It wrecks the dexers, you know what I mean?

BMO: No, not really.

SL: Hey, that's some nice valorite armor you've got there.

BMO: Umm...

SL: Por Corp Wis!

BMO: OoOOoOoo

Apparently, further investigation is needed to solve this

grammatical mystery.

Azalin Gets a new Porcelain Throne

*****

by Nilrea

Today is a grand day
as the Liche Lord

Azalin received his long-awaited new throne. "Even the undead have needs" he was quoted as saying, "and my old throne just wasn't working for me". Rumors of his change from the skull-and-bone motif have been spreading for months, as he continued to make comments about how "last century" bone was. Aleph Aeirs, as of this moment tied to the old chair, responded to our question with a ringing declaration of "AAAAAAAGGHHH HHHHHHHH!!!!"

A Day in the Life of Jacob the Guard

*****

by O. Mandelstam

8 AM: I report for work...Moonglow is quiet, except for those guys with white hair on nightmares. Don't they have a home?

10:15 AM: Some ninny throws an explosion potion that grazes Rebodoog the Baker. Wilst that swine regret his actions? You bet.

11:49 AM: Some guy in bone armor keeps giving me a book titled "a rimjob." What do I need this for?

1:33 PM: Dried flowers, why do they always go for the dried flowers? How do you like your dried corpse, sucker?

2:41 PM: I keep eying
the guy who's been trying to steal a
crystal ball from a
packhorse for an hour
now. What gives? I mean it's your horse,
just take the damn
thing!

3:50 PM: Ooh, you
must be new here.
Like your little
tambourine tune is going to provoke me to
attack my buddy,
Edmund the Guard?
No, but it will provoke
me to wrap my hally
around your neck.

4:25 PM: Ok, I saw
you kill those 27
nobles, don't think I didn't. Now if you would just come a
little bit closer...

5:00 PM: Another
satisfying day at the
job. Only 148 dead
from faction,
order/chaos and guild
wars. I can live with that, but stay away
from the dried onions,
fool!
